

FAMILY ENGAGEMENT FOR TRANSITION-AGE YOUTH

This series will give parents and families a forum for open dialogue and discussion on various topics relating to the unique process of transitioning students with disabilities age 14-22 from the educational environment to their life beyond school.

GMATT (Geauga Multi-Agency Transition Team) brings together several independent agencies and seeks to support student achievement and post-school success by providing resources, guidance, and education to districts and families of school-aged transition youth.
